Useful info

Welcome to Vesterålen

Vesterålen is an ideal place to observe arctic lights such as the midnight sun and the Northern Light. Located just below the Aurora zone, leading research into the phenomenon happens here. Vesterålen is experiencing a growth in tourism all year. Nature-based activities are much sought after with WHALE SAFARIS and hiking being most popular. Vesterålen is a HIKERS PARIADISE and we have more than 200 marked tracks from green to black routes. Dronningruta (The Queen's Route) between Stø and Nyksund, Måtind in Andøy and the trip to Møysalen, the highest mountain in the region is three very special hikes. Coastal culture and innovation through our museums and visiting centers, cycling, sea-kayaking and fishing is also very popular. For detailed information about culture, climate, adventures and more in Vesterålen, see: visitvesteralen.com

Whales & Wildlife

The region's unique geographical location makes Vesterålen one of the best places in the world for whale watching.

Vesterålen is located on a narrow continental shelf that slopes steeply down to over a thousand meters deep just a few kilometers from the shore, where the large whales graze in the nutrient-rich water. From the boat, you can experience the world's largest sea mammals up close all year round, like the sperm-whale.

In the summer season whale safaris leave from the port of Andenes and Stø, situated on the coast of Vesterålen. In autumn and spring there are safaris departing two or three days a week. In the winter season the whales follow the herring into the many fjords of the region, and it is possible to see killer whales, humpbacks, (long-finned) pilot whales and fin whales. The boats used for whale safaris vary in size, fittings and motor power.

There are abundant nesting birds in Vesterålen, more than 100 species. The most sought-after birds for safaris are the puffin and the sea eagle. At the same time, there are many beautiful species that you can experience on the tours that are offered. At sea you might also meet the seals.

The moose is one of our greatest attractions, and several of our companies offers moose-safaris.

Hikers Paradise

Vesterålen has over 200 marked and signposted hiking routes.

The trails are easily accessible with beautiful views of fjords and arctic landscapes as far as the eye can see, regardless of which trail you choose. The level of difficulty varies with trails suitable for the novice and seasoned walker alike.

The top 3 most known hikes in Vesterålen are «Måtind», «Møysalen»; the highest mountain in Vesterålen (1264 masl) and «Dronningruta» (The Queens Route).

Many of the mountains in Vesterålen can be explored all year round. The locals are fond of walking in the mountains, and there are good paths on several mountains also in winter.

We have several companies that offer guided tours, all year round.

Coastal Culture

Some of the richest fishing grounds in our country are located in Vesterålen. Fishing is the foundation for the settlement in Vesterålen.

Traditional fishing villages are well worth a visit, whether they are old, abandoned fisherman's stations or newer, modern fishery ports bustling with maritime activity. Common to all is the proximity to the ocean, and a rich history.

FISHING VILLAGES

Vesterålen has many small, vibrant and authentic fishing villages, but also some large and modern ones. One of the most famous historical fishing village is Nyksund, which was one of the largest towns in Vesterålen around 1900. In the early 1970s, the harbor became too small for modern boats, the school was closed, and relocation subsidies from the state meant that Nyksund was abandoned. Today, Nyksund is inhabited again and accommodation, fantastic food, and experiences are offered. The last part of the road to Nyksund is an experience in itself, with steep mountains on one side and the open ocean on the other.

BIRTHPLACE OF HURTIGRUTEN

A second tourism concept in the making is «Hurtigrutas fødested» (The birthplace of Hurtigruten), in Stokmarknes. Captain Richard With was born in Stokmarknes in Vesterålen and founded the original Hurtigruten (coastal express) in 1893. Today, the Hurtigruten Museum stands as a monument to Norway's coastal history in the center of the birthplace of Hurtigruten, Stokmarknes.

Arctic Light

The arctic light in Vesterålen has beautiful variations during the different seasons.

Although the sun does not rise over the horizon for nearly two months, winter in Vesterålen is both colorful and exciting, with a wide range of different colours. The sky is colored with several shades of red and orange. We would certainly recommend taking your camera to Vesterålen in winter.

THE NORTHERN LIGHTS

Vesterålen is an ideal place to observe the Northern Lights, either combined with an active hiking vacation in autumn, or alongside winter activities in a snow-covered wonderland. The region is located right within the Northern Lights oval and leading research into the Aurora at Andøya Space, happens here.

THE MIDNIGHT SUN

The Midnight Sun is a natural phenomenon above the arctic circle, but we do not have two suns. And yes, we often get questioned about our second sun. From mid-May to mid-July the sun does not go below the horizon, even for a few weeks before and after this period the evenings and nights are as bright as the days. In August there is no longer the midnight sun, but the late sunsets can be truly magical. Especially on a sandy beach, in the fishing boat or on a mountain hike.

COLOR SEASON

Many associate Arctic light with the Northern Lights alone, but the large variations in light and colors extend throughout the year here in the north. Each season has its unique color spectrum, a fascinating experience that everyone should experience at least once in their lifetime.

Local Food

In Vesterålen you can eat delicious food from the coast, the mountains and the fjords.

The fresh products and proteins are characterized by the place they come from and are full of flavor. Everyone knows that Vesterålen offers world-class fish - even the fish itself knows that the coast of Vesterålen is the place to be.

From the end of January to the beginning of April the skrei (Arctic cod) spend time at our coast spawning. This is a product we have exported to the rest of Europe as far back as the Viking age. In Sigerfjord we have an Arctic Char producer with the same international brand protection as Parmesan and Parma ham. There are only a few producers in Norway with this brand protection. Vesterålen is not only known for our tasty fish. The farmers in Vesterålen supply local meat and milk, several types of game are hunted, we have good local cheeses and other culinaryties that can be harvested in the mountains and at shores.

Vesterålen's raw material food form the basis for a local and seasonal menu of short-traveled food. Several of the district's restaurants have also seen the potential and offer a pantry from forest and fields, from mountains and marshes, from rivers and seas.

To the lighthouse in a day

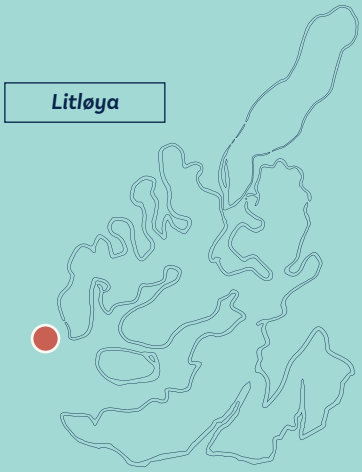

Litløy Fyr - Littleisland Lighthouse is standing in the heart of the coastal history in Vesterålen. Together with the neighbouring island, Litløya was a cultural centre for centuries with fishing communities and an active trading culture. On the island you can visit remnants from Stone Age time, see turfs from the peak of the fishing community and climb into a 40-meter-deep cave made by the sea some 100.000 years ago. When boats got engines, they needed better harbours and people started to move from these islands. Today there is only the lighthouse left, where your hosts, Elena & Frode, live all year round and welcome you for a day visit from May till September.

We pick you up at the local harbour with our RIB boat. We provide flotation suits and life jackets and can transport up to 10 persons. You'll get a guided tour at the lighthouse premises, where we tell you about the lighthouse history and how we survive out here today. You also get time to walk along the cultural path on the island.

A warm lunch based on local ingredients is served outdoor at the platform by the lighthouse keepers' house, with a scenic view to the sea and the Lofoten mountains.

The price for everything, including lunch and guided tour is NOK 1 500 per person (minimum 6 persons)

The day visit is weather dependent. Please call +47 909 22 888 or send an email to book. This offer is from 1 May - 30 September.

Melbo Hovedgård

- Melbu – the farm that became a significant small town overnight

In the period between 1890 -1920 Melbu was going through a period from being a large farm to become a significant small town in northern Norway. In the center of all the activity stood Christian Frederiksen, businessman and head of the Vesteraalen Dampskibsselskab, the first Hurtigruten shipping company.

The Frederiksen family and their staff lived stately in the venerable Melbo Manor house, and in 1890 laid out a large, romantic garden and park where you can stroll around to this day. The garden was designed in English landscape style with footpaths that wind from the garden and further into the idyllic park.

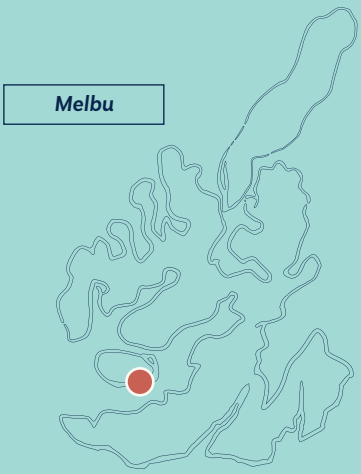

The mansion has been restored to it's former glory, and visitors can enjoy the rich furnishings, as well as interesting historic details. In the servants house next door you can find a museum shop with books and handicrafts. Tours of the mansion and the english garden are offered by appointment.

Øksnes Museum

- Visit the beautiful Alsvåg farm house, and experience one of the oldest wooden buildings in the north of Norway.

The old farm in the village of Alsvåg tells a story going back at least 450 years, and possibly even longer. Walk the halls and see where different time periods meet. Hear the history of the trading post in Alsvåg and the house's many functions throughout the years. Here you can also learn the history of Øksnes, an area situated close to the open sea, where people have lived for thousands of years.

Join a guided tour or enjoy a cup of coffee in historic surroundings in the living room or garden.

In the summer of 2025, the museum is hosting the photo exhibition "My ship is loaded with...", which consists of hidden treasures from the shipping era. These belonged to the Bruun family, who set up a shipping company in the mid-1700's on Børøya in Hadsel municipality. See beautiful jewelry, richly decorated textiles, and curiosities from faraway lands. The objects offer an insight into the everyday life and celebrations of a shipping family in the 1700- and 1800's.

Øksnes museum has a small museum shop in the main building that is open in the summer and during events. Here you can buy nostalgic goods, souvenirs, history books, and other merchandise with a local connection.

The Whale - A new attraction to open in Andøy

Andøy in Vesterålen is one of the best places in the world to see whales all year round. A deep-sea canyon stretches almost to land, making it possible to get from the coast to the deep water in a short boat ride, providing excellent opportunities for whale watching adventures and experiencing whales up close in their natural environment.

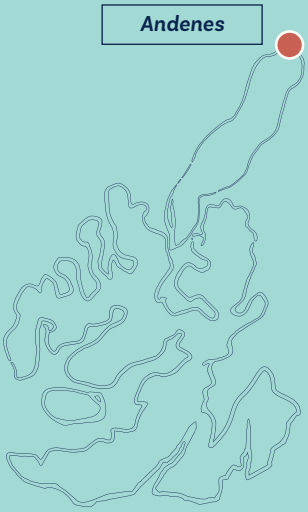

The Whale, scheduled to open in summer 2027, will be a new and unique attraction in Andøy. Vesterålen. It will be a place where art and science are seamlessly interwoven to create a playful, artistic, and unconventional experience. The Whale covers everything about whales: their evolution, biology, behavior, communication, and habitats. Through this experience, guests can delve into the deeper theme of humanity's relationship with whales. How are we connected to them through evolution? How have we valued, worshipped, hunted, and persecuted them? How are they depicted in literature, and how do we study them? Visiting The Whale will be an exploration into the world of whales. At its heart, The Whale will offer an unforgettable close encounter with whales.

The building, designed by Dorte Mandrup, blends seamlessly into the landscape, as if lifting the earth's surface to reveal the secrets of the sea and the whales below. The building will be spectacularly placed on the rocky shore of the Arctic Sea, next to Andenes lighthouse and within walking distance of the harbor where the whale-watching companies are located. Visitors are invited to walk on the roof and enjoy the stunning view of the ocean, the mountains, the midnight sun, or the Northern Lights.
