

History of Arctic Garden

Back in 1912/1913, the biggest, norwegian telephone-company at that time, Televerket, wanted to build a recidens for its regional inspector.

The inspector led the Northern Norway department, and the administration senter was in Lødingen. The villa is up to the left. In 2017 the building was renewed with five bathrooms, one for each of the rooms in 2nd floor, in witch you stay :-)

The nabouring white house is the old telgraph station, built in 1895, to the right . Together the inspector and his staff developed the company, and soon the working place became to small. A new, bigger administration-senter was set up in 1920, very close to the old. There is a nice park around the building. You easaly walk between the three historical buidlings in less than 5 minutes :-)

The historical triangel of telecommunication-
history in Lødingen